NOTES

25X1

Indonesia: Army investigators are still developing evidence implicating former president Sukarno in the 1965 Communist coup attempt, and are also trying to link him with the recent Communist uprising in East Java. There is no firm indication, however, that President Suharto plans to bring him to trial. Sukarno has been effectively neutralized and a public trial to denigrate him further would only serve to complicate Suharto's problems by intensifying anti-government sentiment. Sukarno was taken briefly to Djakarta for questioning last week, but he has since been allowed to return to his home, where he is kept under close surveillance.
